Plans Upset.

Plans had been made for escorting Petrosino's body to his home in Lafayette street if the Slavonia had arrived yesterday, according to her schedule, but as her delay, owing to heavy weather at sea, brought her into port on Good Friday the plans were materially changed, and it was agreed that the greater ceremony should be reserved until the funeral and after holy week.

On arriving at the quarantine station than others because we do our own manufactoday the Slavonia was met by the police boat Patrol, to which the body of the detective was transferred from the steamer and conveyed to the landing place at the Battery. Thence the body was escorted to the Petrosino home by police. The transfer of the body from the ship to the Patrol was witnessed by a committee of citizens, including a number of prominent Italians, who went down the harbor on a tug and participated in the ceremonies attending the landing. Until the day of the funeral mourning flags will be flown from hundreds of windows in the Italian colonies.

For Little Will Was a Church Choir Boy and Called "The Angel-Voiced Child."

Special Dispatch to The Star. NEW YORK, April 9.-Will Williams, a sturdy little chap of seven, who has been called "the angel-voiced child" at the Church of Our Lady, 113th street and 2d avenue, where he was a choir boy, died in Harlem Hospital at 3 o'clock this morning from burns he received at his home, 2012 3d avenue, while going to the aid of his father, mother and two little sisters he believed were in the burning

The fire, which is believed to be of incendiary origin, started in the rear of Louis Eiseler's tailoring establishment, on the ground floor of a five-story tenement building. On the four upper floors lived eight families. When the fire was discovered by Policeman Scarle of the East 104th street staion it had attacked a door leading into the hallway in the rear. Scarle ran into the house and began yelling "Fire!" He had reached the third floor and aroused the Williams family when there was a VICTIM OF CONSUMPTION IN tremendous explosion. Instantly the flames were sucked up through the stairway and at the same time they shot out of the rear windows and made the rear fire escape, the only escape in the buildng, a griddle. Williams grabbed up his two youngest children and, calling for his wife and little son Will to follow, he reached the street by the stairs. The Williams were the old family in the house not to be hemmed in by the flames. "Homes of a Hundred Ideas."

Ideals Make Homes That Are Different.

One of the valuable points in the incorporation of women's ideas in our new homes is that they lend a distinct character to each structure. We have arranged the dwellings in such a way that the structural plans present a variety in the style of architecture, so that each adjoining home will bear no resemblance to one another. This difference is also emphasized by special designs in woodwork and other features in the interior.

Originality is a strong factor in the ideal home, and we have preserved it admirably in these structures.

Our purchase plan is also original, our policy being to consider both husband and wife in planning these homes. The ideals for her, the opportunity for home-buying for the man, who need no longer pay rent if he chooses to own his home.

The difference in these results is the difference between profit and loss, success and failure. Can you compare that state of mind which is the product of a salaried job and a rented house with that of the owner of a comfortable home, who can well afford to be unafraid of the future?

The location of our new homes will not disappoint you. Neither will we. It only means a few working days.

The Washington Herald has selected for its contest one of our "Homes of a Hundred Ideas." It states that the reason this selection was made was "because of location and Middsugh & Shannon's (Inc.) known reputation for good architecture, construction and value, and because they are incorporating in their homes the ideas of the women of Washington,

EASTER GREETINGS TO SCHOOL CHILDREN

Thousands of children will leave the White House grounds for the celebration at Randle Highlands. A day of pleasure for the little ones.

Next Monday---Easter Monday---there will be a great celebration at Randle Highlands. All sorts of amusements for young and old. Easter Eggs in great numbers will be hidden in the shrubbery and grass. Whoever finds the eggs will be the owner, and those finding eggs marked "Pet Rabbit" or "Guinea Pig" will be presented with a Rabbit or Guinea Pig, as indicated. Everything has been arranged for the comfort of the children and their parents. The parents are especially invited to come with the children and enjoy this day of recreation and pleasure.

THE GRAND VIEW OF WASHINGTON FROM THE RANDLE HIGHLANDS WILL BE AN INSPIRATION.

Take the Capital Traction Pennsylvania avenue cars going east, marked "F and G," in front of the White House, or anywhere else along the Capital Traction line. It is only twelve minutes' ride east of the Capitol, and only one car fare. The celebration will be for the white children of Washington.

Nothing will be permitted to take place on the grounds that will injure the smallest child. REMEMBER, the grand hunt for eggs, pet rabbits, etc., will begin at 1 o'clock and continue until 4, during which time a band will make the air ring with patriotic airs.
